Description

This is an antique, French, oak specimen cabinet dating to c.1850. In a desirable country style, this French cabinet is complete with the original working locks and keys. Made in oak and raised on a plinth base the rustic finish is full of charm with a wonderful aged patina. Flanked by field panelled sides, the cabinet is divided in two with a division three quarters of the way up in the field panelled doors; The upper section hinges down providing a work surface backed by a bank of nine small drawers, each dressed with brass pulls and oak lined. The lower section doors open on pin and barrel hinges to reveal a '2 over 2' configuration of larger drawers with oval, pressed brass plate, drop handles. A charming country piece delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
