Description

It's quite rare to find a pair of console side tables, especially as nice as these & of such good quality. This pair are antique Empire style with original marble tops, which are slightly different but still matching enough. They are solid mahogany & have some great features, so please enlarge all of the images. I'm not sure of their exact age, but would hazard a guess at around the 1890-1910 period. They also have a single drawer on the tops. There is about 1cm difference in width & depth, because these tables are obviously hand made, so I'm giving you the larger table's measurements. Width - 23.5", 60 cm Depth - 13", 30 cm Height - 31.5", 80 cm
