Description

This is a large oil on canvas of Ludford Bridge on the Teme river at Ludlow. It was painted at the beginning of the 20th century by Arthur Netherwood who had a studio in a building that sat above the Horseshoe Weir that is downstream of the bridge. The tree in the foreground still sits on a small island in the river where there used to be a ford before the bridge was built in the 16th century. The picture has just been cleaned, as has the frame, which is original, so both are in excellent condition. As a point of interest (and not for sale) the last picture is the original brass name plate from the studio that used to stand below the bridge. Size: Picture - 27.5" x 38.75" (70 x 99cms) Frame - 38" x 49.5" (96.5 x 126cms)
