Description

Mid C19th Victorian period papier-mâché tip-top occasional table in the manner of Jennens & Bettridge. Decorative circular topped tip table with gilt and inset nacre shell, or 'mother of pearl', details. The top with gilt rococo style and floral decoration together with applied and inset shell butterflies and moths. The tapered swollen column support with conforming decoration onto a dished circular shaped base with scroll feet. The top fitted beneath with original brass hinges and an unusually designed gilded brass catch and release. In excellent original condition, the top with a pleasant subtle aged cracklature to the surface. Some rubbing to the gilded decoration to the stem and base as to be expected, commensurate with age and use. The top of a completely flat profile with no warping or distortion. Smart decorative occasional table to add glamour to an interior scheme. Probably produced by the Birmingham and latterly London-based firm of Jennens & Bettridge, a company renowned for the production of such high quality papier-mâché wares and items of small furniture during this period.
