Description

What an unusual shape. This inlaid occasional table dates from just post 1900 and is in good tidy condition as can be seen in the pictures. We have given it a clean and a refresh in our workshops and it is now ready for a new home. String inlays run all around the top on both the upper and lower tier and there is a similar stringing up and down the nicely shaped legs. The centre of the top tier has a shell inlay too. There is a banding inlay around the collar so it looks good from the side as well as the top.
