Description

Late 19th Century country made sword stick, steam bent handle, split Hawthorn scabbard with a white metal collar and ending in a brass ferrule. The blade is round at the handle and becomes square as you move down the shaft, more a stabbing weapon than a blade. I think this was made by a local blacksmith for a farmer, it has a very satisfying feel to handle. Size: Length - 34" (86.5cms) Blade length - 24.5" (62cms)
