Description

In Georgian times, pineapples were hugely expensive and to have one was a conspicuous sign of wealth. Families would sometimes have a pineapple stand in cut glass or ceramic on a side table or as a dining table centerpiece. Upright they would also double as a ham stand and a large joint, surrounded by fruit and decoration would provide the focal point of a gathering or feast. This superb Georgian example has a step cut waisted centre, with alternate panels of slice cutting and strawberry diamonds. The base has petal cutting. A rare and desirable piece of Georgian table glass. P&P contribution £25.00 UK £50.00 Worldwide. Condition :- Excellent, with no cracks or major chips. There is one small chip to the slice cutting, commensurate with age and use. Origin :- English. Date :- c1820. Height :- 15 cms. Base diameter :- 21.5 cms.
