Description

A stunning piece of antique polished Tortoise Shell was used to create this elegant English Magnifying glass dating to the Georgian era, around 1800, and still as usable today as it was over 200 years ago. The shell has a bright shiny patina showcasing the natural pattern and colours of the shell. The frame to the lens, the hinge and clasp are all made from silver. The lens is in remarkably undamaged and clear with an excellent magnification. 1 3/8" in diameter. Item: 39508 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly From London, England
