Description

JULLION of BRENTFORD (ESSEX): a lovely late 18th century BRACKET CLOCK in perfect working order. Unusually for a clock of this period, the ORIGINAL case is of finest burr walnut, with cast brass carrying handle; gilt spandrels to the front door; original escutcheon and walnut feet. The 8-day movement retains its original anchor escapement, striking & repeating hours on a bell, with engraved & silvered dial and date aperture above "VI". 18.5ins high excluding the handle; ; 11ins wide (51x28cms)  John Jullion & Son worked in New Brentford (Essex) from 1762-1778. This is a little later, and therefore likely to have been produced by the son, also called John, on his own.
