Description

This mahogany pedestal table is in nice tidy condition with the original cup castors still in place. There are two leaves that can be removed or kept in place, whichever is your preference. It of course does give the facility to reduce the surface area if in a limited space. The pedestal has a platform base with the four well shaped legs at each corner. The table dates from the early 1800s (1800 to 1840) and there are a number of sets of chairs available to go with this table. A set that has just come from the upholsterer that is shown in the pictures goes really well. Full details of those are on our web site.
