Description

A very good Chippendale period Mahogany wing armchair, the camel back flanked by shaped wings above scrolling armrests and a loose cushion, the whole raised on square chamfered legs with carved moulded corners and united by stretchers, the legs all with brass barrel casters. This has been reupholstered and re-covered in fine hide edged with brass nailing in the past 10 years. The leather has faded and is patinated in a very attractive manner. Circa 1760 H: 43", 109 cms, W: 34", 86.5 cms, D: 35", 89 cms.
