Description

Very impressive & comfortable pair of antique wing armchairs in good condition & dating from around the 1920's period. They have high scroll over hump backs, wide wings & arms, loose cushions & sit on solid walnut carved frames. The carving on the base is very crisp, while the legs have superb shell carvings with claw & ball feet. These armchairs have just come out of a London private residence & the upholstery is in excellent condition & of neutral colour. The seats are fully sprung with feather cushions & the fabric is double piped around the bottom edges. It's rare for us to come across upholstered items in such good condition. These armchairs are of extremely high quality & I'm quite tempted to take these home, because I find this model of chair to be the most comfortable. Width - 34", 87 cm Depth - 36", 92 cm Height - 43", 110 cm Seat height - 18", 46 cm
