Description

George III oak cricket table c.1810. A good example of the form, solid oak throughout and a little larger than many we see. With a 30" diameter top made from three planks of good colour and grain on tapering legs joined with a triangular stretcher shelf, a useful extra feature. Note how the legs are splayed for extra stability. Old marks to the top, otherwise excellent condition. Details Dimensions: diameter 30", height 30".
