Description

A fine quality and attractive antique Victorian mahogany inlaid tub chair by Hewetson, Milner and Thexton of Tottenham Court Road London and dating from circa 1895-1900. The top rail with marquetry inlay of an urn and swag, the rail back with stringing. Standing on tapering legs terminating in spade feet with original brass casters. The seat has been newly reupholstered in a pink coloured velour fabric. With paper label underneath reading: "Hewetson, Milner and Thexton Limited, Manufacturers of Tottenham Court Road London W." This is quite a low chair so would make an ideal dressing table chair or bedroom chair. Formed on July 26, 1887, Hewetson, Milner and Thexton Ltd were prestigious 19th Century furniture makers based in Tottenham Court Road London. By 1900 the company occupied nos 1-15 Tottenham Court Road. The company resisted the estate's attempts to extend Alfred Place through their property (The Times, 20 December 1900) but eventually were forced to move to premises to 209-212 Tottenham Court Road at a much increased increased rent, going bankrupt shortly afterwards in 1901. Construction/Wood: Mahogany Condition Report: Good condition. Solid and sturdy. Newl...
