Description

An excellent and rare pair of Edwardian serpentine shaped side, or lamp tables. Well made in mahogany and decorated with satinwood inlaid stringing and banding and floral marquetry detailing to the drawer fronts. They are of bold serpentine form and each has a pair of drawers fitted with their original ornate brass handles. They stand well on long, elegant tapering legs which terminate in the original brass and ceramic castors. This pair of tables would sit well in a variety of different room scenarios in the modern home, ie living room, dining room hallway etc. We have had them sympathetically repolished to a very high standard and they are now offered for sale in excellent condition with a good rich colour and patina.
