Description

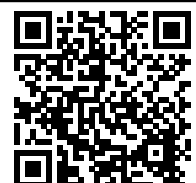

A handsome Victorian silver serving or tablespoon from the sought after and rare York Assay Office. This superb example is in fiddle pattern and has an engraved monogram to the top front. Since so much flatware has been lost to scrap over the past years, good examples have become increasingly scarce and pieces of York silver are always in great demand. Postage & packing contribution £8.00 UK £12.00 Worldwide Condition :- Excellent, with no dents or splits. The bowl tip is unworn. Date :- York 1847. Hallmarks :- Clear and readable. Maker :- James Barber. Length :- 23 cms. Bowl width :- 4.5 cms.
