Description

The grandest of them all quite obviously from a smart London hotel, private club or magnificent private residence. Dating to around 1900, late Victorian or early Edwardian in period, these table top letter boxes were used to collect the outgoing mail for a member of staff to take to the post office for mailing .. those civilized days!! Most were of course more modest than this, this is a top-notch example, the perfect accent for the smartest of entry halls, an interior decorators dream. Made from solid English walnut wood with a stunning colour, there is a drawer to the bottom which would perhaps contained stationary and mailing supplies such as sealing wax, The front is beautifully inlaid with hand painted lettering. The brass fittings have all been meticulously professionally cleaned to gleam. In superb condition complete with working key, it towers an impressive 23" tall x 12 1/2" wide x 8 3/4" deep.
