Description

A handsome antique late Regency mahogany open armchair or desk chair. The oblong reeded top-rail and foliate-scrrolled crossbar above a stuff-over seat on turned legs. It has generously scrolled and reeded arm rests and a comfortable seat. It has been newly re-covered over the existing foam seat. The seat rail to the back of the chair has quite a lot of worm holes, this isn't obvious to look at, but is visible underneath – this is reflected in the asking price. Construction/Wood: Mahogany Condition Report: Solid and sturdy with wear and marks commensurate with age. Newly recovered. An old mend to the crossbar. The seat rail to the back of the chair has quite a lot of worm holes, this isn't obvious to look at, but is visible underneath – this is reflected in the asking price. Dimensions: Width: 60cm Depth: 53cm Height to seat: 48cm Height to Arms: 70cm Overall Height: 90cm
