Description

This is a very heavy, well made eight arm Victorian chandelier with wonderful details throughout - see photo 2 to see the fine details underneath. The metal could be pewter or possibly a solid metal that was once silver plated. The weight and the workmanship shows it comes from a good manufacturer. It measures approximately 53cm in length and 63cm across at the widest point and it was rewired by the previous owner and fitted with replacement candle tubes. To comply with UK regulations it will have to be checked and PAT tested by a qualified electrician before installation. As we no longer sell through a retail outlet we would offer a 20% discount on the price if the buyer could arrange collection from us in SW London. Alternatively, please email us to discuss delivery options, thank you.
