Description

Circa early 20thC, this pair of lovely chambersticks have little turned wood handles and hooks for the bell shaped snuffers. They have been polished but not lacquered and both are in very good condition. They measure 18cm in height and the sconces are approximately 12cm in diameter. The handles are approximately 11cm in length. One handle is more rigid than the other, suggesting perhaps one chamberstick was used more. Postage and packing within the UK mainland has been included in the price, and for remote parts of the UK or abroad, please contact us for a quote for delivery.
