Description

This Oak pedestal desk dates from the early 1900s. We restored this a few years ago for the previous owner who has just moved and we have taken it in part exchange. It has had a few scuffs but overall it is in good useable condition. We have cleaned and waxed the timbers and refreshed the leather. Both are now very nice and tidy. It comes to pieces to be moved so not a difficult job. The back is clean and presentable if you dont want to put it against a wall, the sides are panelled and the inside is tidy and useable, a few internal ink stains but nothing to stop it being used. It has a good working space on the top at 54 ins wide and 30 ins deep. The knee-hole is a good size at 22.1/2 width and 23 ins high, it will take a chair as can be seen in one of the pictures.....reserved.....
