Description

A fabulous pair of 19th Century glass urns standing on square stepped bases and faceted stems. The bowls of these antique urns are finely etched with beautiful swags and floral decoration, the lower portion has subtle faceting. The etching is repeated on the covers which have faceted knobs. The condition is excellent, there are a few tiny inclusions in the glass, obviously acquired during manufacture, and in no way detrimental. These superb urns have an excellent provenance, originally in the collection of Count Redmond Clayton- Brown- Clayton of the Villa La Punta, Liguria, Italy and through the family by descent. A wonderful pair of 19th Century glass urns to enhance any setting. c.1820 Height: 8" (20cm) Base: 2" (5cm) square
