Description

18th century George III Cuban mahogany birdcage tripod table. The typical 18th century design base with turned and carved column with three nicely shaped legs. The birdcage with four turned columns allows the top to be turned round as well as tipped. The top is one piece of Cuban mahogany and has a nice grain pattern. The table is in good condition with no breaks to the legs or cracks to the top but there is a small piece missing off the tip of one of the feet which has been missing for a very long time. The table is a lovely colour with waxed finish. SIZE; 29" diameter top. 28 1/2" high CIRCA; 1770 - 1780
