Description

This antique mahogany revolving drum table has a lovely design with imitation book ends. It has a tooled leather top, reeded edges & compartments between the book decoration. The compartments are squared off inside so are designed to take more books if needed. The drum section spins around on quadruple reeded legs with antiqued brass capped casters. This table is in excellent original condition & has plenty of character. The book ends are different colours & you can clearly see the book titles if you enlarge all the images. I would date this piece to around the 1920's period. Width - 30?, 76 cm Depth - 30?, 76 cm Height - 29?, 73 cm
