Description

Good original Georgian solid oak "Lowboy" desk or side table, great example and in good condition and a useful size, being slightly deeper than the average lowboy desk, so there is more surface area and certainly useable as a daily desk. Good storage with the three drawers, all running well and sturdy, though the handles are not the original, they are solid brass and have been there for a very long time! The top surface has some good quality quarter sawn oak grain to it and moulded edge, lovely depth of colour and patina, simple square legs with a moulded edge, but quite a decor piece too with the shaped knee hole. Some old marks to the top, but nothing out of the ordinary. Good sturdy desk and ready to use. Height : 71 cm - 27.95 in Width : 64 cm - 25.2 in Depth : 55 cm - 21.65 in Knee hole Height : 55 cm - 21.65 in Ideally collected from me here in Uppingham, Rutland - it will fit into the back of most estate cars...but I can easily arrange a "hand delivery courier" for you to most addresses in mainland UK for £55...but please send me your postcode to check distances
