Description

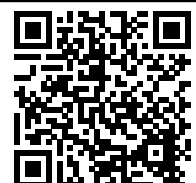

This is a mid-size antique tilt top table. A circular, Georgian oak tea table dating to c.1760. Spectacular grain interest in the oak, five plank top. Wisps of medullary rays shine through the deep wax finish. Desirable aged patina and good consistent colour. Raised on a stout, turned baluster column. Brass catch locking down the tilt top to a steady platform. A tripod of ridged, cabriole legs splay out to spade feet. Rare to find a mid-sized piece of such interest. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
