Description

This is an antique bench dating to the turn of the century c.1900. Raised on block section feet, this rustic pair of benches offer stable and generous seating and a nice alternative to dining chairs in a country kitchen. Traditionally pegged with triangular brackets, the typical through mortice joints add interest to the solid plank seats. The underside of the seat is carved with the initials "VPO". A delightful bench, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
