Description

This antique mahogany octagonal drum table is of the campaign military Regency style & it has lots of character. It has a tooled leather top with an original brass plaque in the middle. There are brass military corner pieces & inset brass military handles on the four drawers. The whole top section can spin around. This sits on a turned column on quadruple legs with original brass cupped casters. This table is in good original condition & I would date it to around the 1910-20's period.
