Description

Mid C18th George II period mahogany corner or reading armchair. Good original example of mid C18th mahogany corner chair raised on cabriole legs terminating with circular pad feet. The front leg with well-carved shell and 'C' scroll detail. The shaped arms and back supported by broad shaped lumbar splats and architecturally inspired turned column uprights. The veneered edge balloon-shaped seat retaining it's original drop-in seat with original period needle-work cover. Minor wear to stitching. The needlework probably an earlier late C17th/early C18th fragment. Constructed in heavy, dense Cuban mahogany which has achieved a rich, deep original patina and colour. In good original condition with only minor historic repairs. The inside of the front frame with an 'estate-made' iron strengthening bracket. In strong, stable and usable condition. Probably Irish.
