Description

Edwardian walnut tallboy Here we have this Edwardian walnut tallboy to offer you. Of a lovely golden colour, this chest on chest would look superb in any home. The tallboy is made in 2 sections, the base section consisting of 3 graduated drawers below the brushing slide. The brushing slide was said to have been on chests for the valet to brush the gentleman's clothes before use. The top section has 2 small drawers to the top and a further 3 graduated drawers below. Each drawer is cross-banded around the edges, and fitted the original plate swing handles. As this chest on chest is a very nice narrow size it would fit into most homes. As it is attractive and well proportioned, it can be placed in a downstairs area or in the bedroom and or landing area of your home. This lovely piece of English furniture would have been made in the late Edwardian period circa 1910. 172cms high (67 1/2in) 64cms wide (25ins) 43cms deep (17ins)
