Early 18th Century Oak Long case clock made by Jonathan Baldwin 1677-1739 marked Feversham (now spelt Faversham) Kent No 313. He was apprenticed to Stephen Rayner 1691-98. The clock has an 8 day movement with 2 weights and a pendulum striking the hours on a top bell. It appears to be in working order though it would probably benefit from being serviced and set up by an experienced horologist.
