Description

This fabulous Victorian silver inkstand is extremely eye catching and would grace any desk. Made in 1871 by the great Barnard and Sons, it is of larger than normal proportions, with both the base and inkwell echoing each other in design. Featuring a circular dish base with removable silver mounted cut glass inkwell, it is of superior quality. The base is embellished with bead rims and extensive intricate engraving, forming scallops with borders of foliar scrolls. To the forward facing scallop is a charming heraldic family coat of arms and to the underside of the base is the retailers mark of Mappin Brothers - London Bridge & 220 Regent Street. The inkwell is presented on a raised mount to the centre of the base and the hinged silver lid is again embellished with beading and engraving. The glass is cut with conforming scallops, which are in turn heightened to the centres with engraved floral decorations. The base is finished with a cut star.
