Description

This is a lovely example of a good solid mahogany rounded corner dining table from the first half of the 19th Century. It has 5 leaves, two fixed and three that are removeable if required. It has a well detailed leg with the rope detail on the base of the leg and the original brass castors. This table will seat twelve people with ease and as it is 54 inches on the ends will in deed seat 14 if required. It has a superb finish, being refreshed in our workshops and will not disappoint at all. Available at a sensible price in this condition and of this quality for £3850. The pictures show a set of 10 chairs of similar age that will go with this if required. These are also tidy but currently unrestored. They do need a some joints tightening and rewaxing, seats are certainly useable but could do with reupholstery in your own choice of fabric. All the work on the chairs can be done if they are of interest. Dont hesitate to contact us if you would like to discuss 01565 874075..... Sorry Reserved
