Description

This elegant antique mahogany side table is of very high quality & has a wonderful shape with many fine features. The top section is serpentine shaped with flame mahogany, cross banding & a reeded edge. There are shell inlays on either end of three drawers that are inlaid around the edges with original brass handles. The drawers are lined with solid timbers & have fine dovetails. The turned reeded legs taper & kick out at the ends. This table could be used as a small desk or a side table. It's in excellent original condition & I would date it to around the 1910 period.
