Description

A lovely oak desk chair dating from the early 20th Century. It is a good comfortable chair and very well made with a red leather-look and studded seat. It serves as a lovely desk chair but would also be a nice library or hall chair. It has an attractive shape with central curved splats on cabriole legs with a H-stretcher. It is in excellent condition for its age. It has developed a lovely aged patina and is structurally very sound, having recently been restored. The original aged upholstery has been saved and re-used while the below webbing has been replaced to strengthen the seat. It has been polished and although is not without a few small marks here and there it displays beautifully. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask. Free local delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton. London £45.
