Description

A very large 19th century pine linen press in excellent condition for its age. Recently stripped exposing a clean and tidy bare wood - ready for waxing or painting. The top has two very attractive arched panelled doors and lovely panelled side's. Inside the cupboard are three shelves to the right hand side, and a single shelf to the left. The left side of the cupboard has a deeper bottom, which would have originally been to hang clothes. If you would like us to remove the single shelf (on the left hand side) and fix a new brass hanging rail, please let us know and we can do this for you. The bottom section has three working drawers, and one "fake" drawer (due to the deeper side of the cupboard). Each have the original wooden knobs. The underside of the linen press has a decorative wavy edge - finishing off the overall appearance of this grand piece. The top separates from the base for delivery - so could be used in a bedroom or landing. Linen presses' also work very nicely in large hallways or boot rooms storing everything away. Height 86", width 66", depth 25", internal depth 20"
