Description

A superb Victorian library writing table made of oak set on turned and reeded legs terminating in brass castors. It has two drawers, each with its original brass drop handles and there is an inset tooled green leather writing surface on the top of the desk. It is in good condition, having been recently refinished and restored. The desk is generally clean and tidy throughout with a few small ink stains here and there and the leather surface is in good condition. The drawers run well however there are some old ink stains and other marks in the bases. One lock has also been removed at some time and a strip of wood put in its place. There are some normal signs of wear and age and there has been a repair to the wood on the top (see photo) but nothing detrimental and the desk displays beautifully and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions at all please ask. Free local delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton. Regular deliveries to London for £50. Nationwide delivery available, please contact us for an accurate quote.
