Description

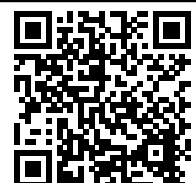

A very good pair of 19th Century ships lanterns made by W. Nunn & Co for Army & Navy, London and bearing their plaque. The lanterns have brass drop handles and port and star board brass plates. The lighting facility is accessed by a rear hinged door, this has the original closing mechanism. The condition is good, there is a small crack to the top corner of the glass of the port lamp, this is not easily visible and is not detrimental to the appearance. A very decorative and high quality pair of ships lanterns, to add a nautical touch to any interior. c.1890 Height with handle: 12" (30.5cm) Depth back corner to centre front: 7.5" (19cm) Depth of side: 5.5" (14cm)
