Description

Superb Art Deco sculpture of a pair of eagles in flight c.1930. Shown wheeling around an outcrop of rock, beautifully cast in spelter with fine detail and attractive verdigris finish. On a thick oval polished black slate base signed Rulas. Well known for producing a range of animal sculpture from the period, this is a larger and less common example of a single eagle version which is found more often. Excellent condition. Note the birds detach for delivery. Dimensions: width 27", depth 12", height 32".
