Description

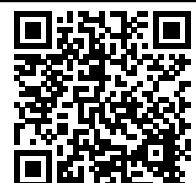

CHRISTOPHER GOULD of LONDON: a very fine and original late 17th/early 18th century MARQUETRY LONGCASE CLOCK in full working order. The case is superbly inlaid with marquetry to the hood; the base and with gorgeous oval panels, featuring birds; flowers and leaves, to the long trunk door. The 8-day 5-pillar movement, typical of the period, strikes hours via the internal countwheel, whilst the dial features subsidiary seconds; date aperture; 'ringed' decoration to the winding holes; cherub's head spandrels and ornate blued steel hands. Engraved signature to the chapter-ring. 84ins tall. Christopher Gould (fl pre-1682 to 1718), was a highly regarded maker, who was admitted as a member of the Clockmakers Company in 1682. He was responsible for a number of very fine Bracket and Longcase clocks, some of which were in the famed Wetherfield Collection. He died in 1718.
