Description

Georgian mahogany sofa table with cross banding This Georgian mahogany sofa table is of a lovely mellow mahogany colour. It is fitted a pair of working drawers to the front, and a pair of dummy drawers to the rear. It is finished all round, so that this sofa table can be placed in the centre of a room, or any area away from the wall. Made circa 1820, it has the elegance and timeless style you would expect from a late Regency piece. This Georgian sofa table, also has the very desirable feature of the stretcher hidden at the top of the legs not on view. Many sofa tables have a pole stretcher running between the end supports, which can make the sofa table look heavy. It stands on end supports with a pair of swept legs coming off it. Each leg with the original brass square cap toes and with brass rolling castors under. The top surface has an attractive satinwood banding running around the edge, as well as fine box wood stringing on the end supports, the swept legs and drawers. 88cms wide flaps down (34 1/2ins) 137cms wide with flaps up (54ins) 64cms deep (25ins) 73cms high (28 1/2ins) UK mainland delivery £60+vat
