Description

A superb oak bookcase dating from the early 20th Century in the Arts and Crafts style. It has two glazed upper doors opening to reveal a shelved interior. Below are two cupboard doors also with a central shelf. The bookcase has its original wavy antique glass and original turned bone knobs and escutcheons. It is a good size with nice proportions and every aspect of the bookcase is superb quality. The doors and sides of the base are panelled in an ecclesiastical style and this continues with the columns at the sides and the unusual glass panels in the sides of the top section. The bookcase does split into two sections for ease of movement and transport. It is in good condition throughout and is a clean sturdy piece of furniture. It is not without some minor signs of age and use and there are some light scratches on the top surface and also a small split in the very back top moulding (see photos) but nothing detrimental. There are some historic woodworm holes on one side but this hasn't affected it structurally or aesthetically and they have been treated as a precaution. It has been cleaned and has a nice smooth waxed finish and is ready for the home. The best description c...
