Description

Early C20th Japanese carved lacquer Taisho period low reception or coffee table. Highly-decorative Japanese lacquer low table made in the reign of the Emperor Taisho . The top decorated with bold raised lacquer chrysanthemum flower heads and featuring a pea-hen and peacock , the 'eyes' of the tail feathers inlaid with abalone shell detail. Strong bold colours in vivid contrast to the black lacquer ground. Raised on bold scrolled feet , the correspondingly decorated friezes with pierced detail . In 'as found' , country-house condition with some chipping and wear to the lacquer and with an historic join gap to the centre of the top . Nonetheless a bold decorative statement to add impact and exotic Oriental flair to a design scheme . In strong , useable condition. H 14" W 44" D 20" Japan c. 1920
