Description

This 19th Century dressing table is in lovely condition. It has all its handles in place and still retains the candle holders on each side of the mirror uprights. Surprisingly, these type of dressing table are not easily found especially in this really clean condition like this one. It has a unusual shield shape mirror with the original bevelled glass and is enhanced by the well detailed leaf carving on the drawer fronts and round the mirror. The front uprights also have a similar attractive detailing. It is good quality Victorian workmanship at a most affordable price. Overall height is 66 1/2 inches other sizes given below. This must be one of the best deals around for quality, age and condition.
