Description

This is an antique Davenport from the prestigious cabinet maker's Burrey & White of Shrewsbury. A rosewood desk dating to the early 19th century during the reign of William IV, circa 1835. A superior piece presented in excellent condition. Delightful colour and grain interest to the select rosewood Cabinetry by Burrey & White, fitted with Bramah locks, keys absent. Galleried desktop slides forward for additional knee space. Finished with a twin tooled, olive skiver. Raised on turned and tapered pillars rising from carved bell flowers. Standing upon bun feet over hidden brass castors. The fall hinges beautifully with a built in brass, multi-point stay. Inside, a pair of stationery drawers over a pair of faux drawers. Burr maple fronts with ash linings and dressed with ebony pulls. The lower right hand pull acts as a concealed locking pin. Removing the pin releases a slide and turn, external pen drawer. The cabinet doors open smoothly on quality Horne hinges. The doors have removable field panels secured by brass stays. Offering the option to view the magnificent drawer fronts with the doors closed. A suite of four drawers are dressed with recessed mahogany pulls. The lower two being f...
