Description

A 1920s silver Stauffer Son & Co pocket watch. Stauffer Son & Co manufactured movements in their Swiss factory in La Chaux de Fonds, known as the Atlas factory. Sales were so good that the Atlas factory struggled to meet the demand so movements were imported from other Swiss manufacturers such as IWC and Patek Philippe. This particular movement was made in the La Chaux-de-Fonds factory as it has the SS&Co beneath three triangles. This mark was used on Stauffer's own highest quality movements, known as "third quality" (which, despite how it sounds, was their very best quality). The movement is working nicely and it is protected by an inner hinged cover. The mark of SS&Co with the three triangles was registered in 1886 and this particular watch would date back to the early part of the 20th Century. The watch itself measures 52.2mm diameter excluding the winding stem and the loop. The case is silver and has Birmingham hallmarks for 1925 with the makers mark for the Dennison Watch Case Company. It is in good condition with just light surface marks from use and a small "ding" to the back. The watch glass has minor marking from use although it is in nice condition ...
