Description

These Red Walnut dining chairs date from the late 1800s, Queen Victoria was on the throne of England. They have been looked after these chairs and have good crisp detailing in the backs and on the Gillows style leg, they are not covered in knocks and bangs like many sets we see. Currently in our workshops for a light clean and rewaxing they are in very nice condition. The upholstery is quite useable but it is useage marked and could possibly do with recovering to suit your own colour scheme. A really keenly priced set at £260 when taking into account the quality and tidy condition of these chairs which have just arrived from a local house. sizes below are on the seat, total height is 91cms
