Description

A fine quality 19th century Victorian leather upholstered armchair on walnut legs possibly by Jas Shoolbred circa 1880. Having a deep buttoned leather upholstered back and scrolled armrests with a sprung seat raised on turned solid walnut front legs terminating on brass and porcelain castors. The whole upholstered in a hand dyed antiqued leather with individual brass nail finish. This chair is offered in excellent condition and is extremely comfortable having the desirable feature of a long sprung seat with a high back so to rest one's head, perfect for reading or relaxing. The reason we believe it may be a Jas Shoolbred chair is it was purchased along with our Shoolbred chesterfield (which is stamped) coming from the same owner with both the chesterfield and the chair had their original matching covers and a very similar leg. The leg of this chair is also seen on other Shoolbred armchairs along with the overall design. James Shoolbred & Co or also known as Jas Shoolbred was established in the 1820's as a draper's shop, at Tottenham Court Road, London. The company first began supplying textiles to the furniture trade. By the 1860's, the company began designing, man...
