Description

Lovely Regency era English painted pine wardrobe retaining its original paintwork c.1810. Simple design with two long doors opening to reveal full length hanging space with a single drawer in the base. Front and sides of the wardrobe are scumbled or painted to resemble the pale colour and decorative grain of elm or birch. Unusually the scumbling is also continued on the inside of the doors. With a large moulded cornice, arch door panels with a pronounced beaded moulding and on a simple block plinth. Excellent condition with only minor wear to the paintwork. With original lock, hinges, catches and hanging hooks. Key supplied. With the doors removed the carcass of the wardrobe splits horizontally into two pieces. Dimensions: width 53½", depth 24", height 80".
