Description

Edwardian mahogany swivel desk chair This Edwardian mahogany swivel desk chair was made circa 1910. The frame of this desk chair is made of mahogany, and then leathered in our fine antiqued finish. This is a strong chair with bold and broad framing around the leather panels to the back and seat. The leather has been totally renewed by our own specialist upholsterers. The leather hide is hand dyed and finished in this wonderful ageing method. You will think it has been there all the chairs life. The leather is secured by brass capped studs, each stud tapped in gently, which is a labour of love. Only a skilled professional can do such a good job. The tub shaped chair sits on a cross legged base that swivels on its original cast iron mechanism, with solid brass castors below. This is a very good sturdy desk chair, that will look great in an office behind an important desk. 61cms wide across the arms 24ins 52cms deep 20 1/2ins 85cms high 33 1/2ins 49cms seat height 19 1/2ins UK mainland delivery £75+vat
